Index

Abandonment, 356, 357
Absentee nationalism, 358
Action planning, 191
Addams, Jane, 251
Advocacy, 73, 265–267. See also Family advocates
AFDC (Aid to Families with Dependent Children), 163–164
Africa, 24, 103, 343. See also South Africa; Sub-Saharan Africa
African Americans, 95, 327, 368
Agendasetting: and change strategies, 255, 261–264; and discourses, 127, 128–130, 261, 276, 290; and family-centered dialogue, 238–239; and family-centered policies and practices, 127–133, 187; and family expertise, 212; and family impact analysis, 137, 290; and framing, 146, 261, 290; and lesson-drawing, 182; and policy-practice skills, 276–280, 281, 290; and polityscapes, 349; and teaming, 264
Aging: and agingscapes, 350; and development, 372; and equality, 46; and family well-being, 74; and human development, 45; and supports, 59; and women, 27. See also Elders
Agingscapes, 350
Agricultural resources: and development, 368; and family-supportive framework, 137; and globalization, 300, 304, 305, 307; and migration, 319–320; and population growth, 24; and push factors, 354; and technology, 319
AIDS, 23, 150, 310, 350, 376n4
Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), 163–164
Alignment indices, 209–211
Americanization, 300
Anderson, S. A., 66
Annan, Kofi, xi
Argentina, 142, 148, 307
Armed conflicts: and cosmopolitan democracy, 333; and development, 373; and economics, 26; and family well-being, 54; and poverty, 23; and push factors, 353; and religion, 358–359; and social movements, 297; and UNICEF, 23
Asia, 101, 103, 177, 298, 330, 343
Assets: asset mapping, 273–274; and community capital, 252; and development, 370; and indigenous invention, 208; and scapes, 348; and trust, 252
Australia, 144, 149
Austria, 142, 148
Baker, M., 126, 182, 183
Bangladesh, 344–345, 368
Barber, B., 300
Barriers, 192, 203–205, 280
Belgium, 144
Belize, 29
Benchmarking, 179
Blame dynamics: and barriers, 204; and capacity building, 253; and change strategies, 255; and child abuse/neglect, 50, 71; and family-centered collaboration, 200, 201; and family-centered dialogue, 230, 239, 240, 243, 244; and family needs, 119, 120; and poverty, 118; and reframing, 255, 257, 261; and unemployment, 82, 84
Brazil, 307, 341, 356
Bricker-Jenkins, M., 207
British Columbia, 307
Burggraf, S., 104
Burundi, 144
Cameroon, 103, 144
Canada: and cooperatives, 111, 112; and demogrants, 106; and family-centered policies and practices, 126; and family impact analysis, 155; and family rights, 144; and indigenous people, 368; and multiculturalism, 360; and poverty, 183; and presumptive policies, 169; and pulp production, 307; and social welfare discourse, 117
Capacity building: and blame dynamics, 253; and change strategies, 256, 257; and crisis-responsive policies, 166; and domestic violence, 233, 234; and family-centered dialogue, 231; and family images, 67; and family needs, 124; and framing, 239; and health, 224, 227, 228; and helping professionals, 278, 279; and local mobilization, 251, 253; and policy alignment, 211; and service integration, 176; and supports, 58; and unemployment, 216, 219
Capitalism: and commodified labor, 104; controls on, 312, 331–335; and economic globalization, 311, 315, 362; and family well-being, 312, 313, 347; and human rights, 347; and welfare state, 329, 337
Capitated spending, 314
Caregivers and caregiving: and demogrants, 106; and development, 373; and equality, 46, 107; and families, 51–52, 101, 105; and family-centered dialogue, 242, 243–244, 245; and home and family sector, 97, 102–103, 109; and human rights, 381; and income supports, 113, 149–150; and meaningful work, 79; and unemployment, 81; and wages, 382; women as caregivers, 16, 27, 48, 52, 73, 77
Categorical approaches: and families, 3, 377; and family-centered dialogue, 214, 243, 247; and family-centered policies and practices, 4, 133–140, 364; and familyscapes, 350; and family well-being, 382; and integrated services, 173–177, 248; limitations of, 12, 134; relational approach compared with, 134, 135; and residual approaches, 166; and social welfare, 362; and strategic decision-making, 160, 166–167

Central America, 341

Change agents, 254–256

Change strategies: and advocacy, 265–267; and agenda sharing, 255, 261–264; and consumers’ investments, 269, 271; and families as change agents, 254–256; and family-centered approaches, 2–4, 257–261; and helping professionals, 274, 276; and individual/family needs, 379; and reframing, 255, 257, 258–261; and strategic decision-making, 254; and teaming, 262–265; and vision, 254, 256–257, 263

Child abuse/neglect: and blame dynamics, 50, 71; and change strategies, 256; and families as victims, 71–72; and family preservation, 196; and family stress, 36; and health, 95; and helping professionals, 70; and normal/abnormal families, 69; and patriarchy, 7; and privacy, 42; and selective strategies, 167; and strategic decision-making, 166; and unemployment, 81; and women, 22

Children: and abandonment, 356, 357; and advocacy roles, 266–267; and armed conflicts, 26; aspirations of, 7, 83; and categorical policy frames, 133, 134; and child care, 81, 115; and childscapes, 350; and commodified labor, 79; and democracy, 132; and democrats, 106; and economics, 26; and employment, 25, 27, 97, 101, 103, 271, 281–283, 308–309, 309, 319, 320, 33612, 350, 37615; and family-centered policies and practices, 379; and family definition, 32, 33–34; and family issues, x, xi–xii; and family needs, 120, 146–147; and family privacy, 70; and family rights, 41; and familyscapes, 350–351; and family stress, 36; and family-support agendas, 173; and family systems, 67; and family well-being, 7, 40, 75, 129, 150–151, 310; and food supply, 310; framing of needs, 129; and gender rights, 96; and health, 23, 350; and home and family sector, 103; and human development, 45; and income supports, 113; indices related to, 23, 52; and individual rights, 73, 148, 149, 150; and informal sector jobs, 25, 27, 97, 101, 309; and keep factors, 356; and labor smuggling industry, 354; and mass media, 345; and mental models, 74; and network factors, 354; and new-century policies and practices, 377; and peripheral economies, 317; and poverty, 23; as refugees, 343; and resources, 60; and socialization, 38; and supports, 59; and unemployment, 84, 94

Childscapes, 350

Chile, 307

China, 312, 353, 356, 357

Chronic unemployment, 81–82, 319

Churchill, Winston, xi

Citizenship: and deterritorialization, 340; and development, 370; and Citizenship (Continued)
family advocates, 250; and family issues, xiii, 15, 22; and family well-being, 39; and gendered divisions of labor, 102; and globalization, 305; and helping professionals, 292; and ideology, 127; and immigration policy, 361; and individual and family rights, 39; and international governance, 332; and local mobilization, 253; and meaningful employment, 79; and scapes, 348; and teaming, 264; world citizenship, 378
Civil society: concept of, 332; and development, 370, 371; and families, 63, 137; and family issues, x, xi; and family well-being, 74; and patriarchy, 380
Civil society organizations (CSOs), 332, 335, 347, 351, 370
CNN, 298
Colombia, 344
Colonialism, 299, 300, 371
Commodified labor, 77, 79–80, 83, 97–98, 104
Commodity chains, 316–317, 324, 325, 328, 338
Communication: and families, 38; and familiescapes, 351; and globalization, 297, 298, 299; and hybridization, 345; and message and meta-messages, 200–201; as resource, 57; and scapes, 351; and service integration, 174; and testifying, 289
Community capital, 252
Community service, 79, 109
Comoros, 145
Competent practices, 189, 190
Competition state, 322
Competitive game theory, 325
Consensus-based practices, 205, 207
Consumers and consumer goods: and change strategies, 269, 271; and development, 368; and economic globalization, 330; and economics, 26; and family well-being, 4; and formal sector jobs, 96; and globalization, 269, 304, 306–310; and government, 28; and high-income nations, 315; production of, 306
Cooperatives, 25, 28, 111–113, 370, 381
Core economies, 315–316, 317, 330, 381–382
Corporate profits, 8
Correction process, 271–274
Cosmopolitan democracy, 333–335, 351, 361, 365
Cosmopolitan localism, 332, 333, 335, 348, 351
Cost analysis, 286, 290
Cottage industries, 96, 100
Crafts, 6, 304, 320
Creolization, 346
Criminal justice: and categorical approaches, 12, 133; and childscapes, 350; and families, 102; and family-centered approaches, 15, 381; and human development, 45
Crisis, 5–6, 28, 72
Crisis-responsive policies: and change strategies, 254; and family-centered dialogue, 222, 236; and family well-being, 382; and service integration, 174; and strategic decision-making, 166–167, 168
Cross-sector analyses, 304
CSOs (civil society organizations), 332, 335, 347, 351, 370
Cuba, 143, 150
Cultural accommodation, 208, 360, 371
Cultural assimilation, 208, 360, 371
Cultural diversity: and categorical versus relational approaches, 136; and culturally responsive practices, 18–19; and deterritorialization, 340, 342, 345, 359; and family-centered collaboration, 240; and family-centered policies and practices, 139–152, 185, 381; and family definition, 14; and family rights, 41, 144; and family systems, 29; and gender relations, 356; and globalization, 294, 296, 304, 318, 339; and homogenization, 296, 304, 345; and hybridization, 346, 376n3; and immigration policy, 361; and indigenous inventions, 208; and individual rights, 41; and keep factors, 355–357, 358; and lesson-drawing, 181, 182; and migration, 21; and nongovernmental organizations, 321; and patriarchy, 44, 340; and push factors, 353; and scapes, 348; and social welfare, 362; and teaming, 264; and technology transfer, 178–179
Cultural flows, 346–351
Data systems: and economic globalization, 331; families as data sources, 203, 237; and family needs, 277; and globalization, 305; and international migration, 344; and negative cases, 181; and policy corrections, 272–273, 290; and testifying, 289
Decision signals, 298
Deindustrialization, 318, 319, 327
Delocalization, 318, 327

Democracy: and advocacy, 73; and cooperatives, 112; cosmopolitan democracy, 333–335, 351, 361, 365; and development, 366; and dialogue, 67; and families, 43–44, 63, 66, 74, 108, 131–132, 138, 379–380; and family-centered dialogue, 221; and family-centered policies and practices, 131–132, 138, 186, 211; and family-centered visions, 9; and family issues, x, 13, 15; and Familywatch, 387; and formal sector jobs, 98; and globalization, 304; and helping professionals, 292, 383; and ideology, 127; and individual rights, 39; and international governance, 333; and letters to the editor, 284; and policy development, 158, 186; and policy makers, 126; and policy-practice skills, 274; and political economy, 312; and poverty, 380; and structural adjustment, 321
Demographic processes, x, 304, 309
Denmark, 360
Deterritorialization: and cultural diversity, 340, 342, 345, 359; and economic globalization, 374; and globalization, 340–345; and hybridization, 345–346; and lifestyle choices, 340; and world trade, 352–353
Developed nations: and employment, 326; and family-centered policies and practices, 151; and formal sector jobs, 96; and individual rights, 39, 149; and international migration, 343–344; and poverty, 7; and rural to urban migration, 341; and transnational corporations, 315; and unemployment, 84
alization, 299, 313, 317; and equality, 361; and family-centered approaches, 16, 213; and family-centered dialogue, 214–223; and family-centered policies and practices, 113; and family-centered visions, 10; and family-support agendas, 173; and family well-being, 4, 16, 62, 104, 381, 383; and globalization, 293, 365; and government, 27; and homogenization, 317; and patriarchy, 7, 379; and poverty, 369, 380; and small businesses, 381; and social development, 367; and social investments, 381; and social welfare, 363; and structural adjustment, 321; and trickle-down theory, 323; and work, 6

Economic globalization: assessment of, 324–331; composite of, 317–324; and cosmopolitan democracy, 333; and economic development, 299, 313, 317; effects of, 306–310, 317; and families, 104; and familyscapes, 351; and formal sector jobs, 98, 100, 318, 330; and informal sector jobs, 100–101, 329, 330–331; as international game, 312, 313–315, 324–325, 338; and social development, 299

Economic processes, x, 15, 311

Economic resources, 4

Economics: and development economics, 369; and family-centered policies and practices, 115; and family well-being, 5, 25, 48, 74; and free market protections, 249; and gender relations, 356; and globalization, 17, 303–304; and government, 311–312, 314; and indices, 24–26; and liberal democratic theory, 311; and poverty, 58; and technology, 25; and transnational corporations, 98; and trust, 252; and unemployment, 81, 82; and women, 356–357

Ecoscapes, 349

Ecuador, 142–143, 148, 265

Education: and categorical approaches, 12, 133; and change strategies, 258–261; and developing nations, 309; and development, 369, 370, 373; and economics, 24–25; and eduscapes, 349; and employment, 77; equal access to, 107, 308, 380; and family-centered approaches, 15, 16, 381; and family expertise, 198–200; and family needs, 146, 149; family’s responsibility for, 50, 53, 101, 105; and family stress, 56; and family-support agendas, 173, 197; and family well-being, 40, 48, 75, 151; and gender rights, 96; and globalization, 303; and government, 53; and governmental policies, 62–63; and helping professionals, 70; and human capital development, 314, 336; and immigration policy, 361, 381; and indigenous inventions, 208–209; and migration, 26; and multiculturalism, 360; and patriarchy, 42; and poverty, 23, 380; and push factors, 353; as service, 57; and push factors, 353; as service, 57; and service integration, 175, 176, 189; and socioeconomic status, 78; and structural unemployment, 319; and unemployment, 83; and women, 23, 151, 309, 380

Eduscapes, 349
Elder abuse/neglect, 42, 196, 256
Elders: and advocacy roles, 266; and caregiving, 102, 105; and categorical policy frames, 133; and democracy, 132; and elderscapes, 350; and equality, 186; and family-centered policies and practices, 379; and family privacy, 70; and familyscapes, 350–351; and family-support agendas, 173; and family well-being, 74; and individual rights, 73; and informal sector jobs, 101; and keep factors, 356; and mental models, 74; and new-century policies and practices, 377; and poverty, 380; and resources, 60. See also Aging
Elderscapes, 350
Elected officials, and testifying, 289–290, 291
El Salvador, 145, 353
Emergent mental models, 68
Employment: and children, 25, 27, 97, 101, 103, 271, 281–283, 308–309, 309, 319, 320, 336n12, 350, 376n5; and economic globalization, 318, 322, 325–326; and family-centered approaches, 3, 381; and family issues, xi, 6–7; and family self-sufficiency, 117; and family stress, 54, 55, 56; and family well-being, 48; full employment, 107, 109–113, 349, 373; gender-equitable employment, 76, 95–96, 104, 105, 106, 109–113, 273, 380; and gender rights, 15; and globalization, 303–304, 309; and government, 27, 28; and governmental policies, 63; and immigration policies, 361; insecurities about, 21–22; and keep factors, 356; and network factors, 354; and peripheral economies, 316–317; and pull factors, 352; and push factors, 353–354; as resource, 57, 58; and technology, 25; and transnational corporations, 327; and welfare reform, 164; and women, 15, 25, 27, 43, 52, 97, 101, 271, 309, 319, 320, 336n8, 12, 341–342. See also Formal sector jobs; Informal sector jobs; Meaningful employment; Underemployment; Unemployment
Empowerment: and change strategies, 263; and family-centered policies and practices, 16, 61–62, 138, 186; and family expertise, 196; and grassroots activism, 268; and relational analysis, 36–37; and strategic decision-making, 171
Environment: and border relationships, 343; and capitalism, 312; and categorical policy frames, 133; and development, 366, 367, 368, 373; and eduscapes, 349, 351; and education, 23; and family-centered approaches, 16; and family well-being, 382; and globalization, 310; and government, 27, 28; and human development, 45; and migration, 26; and poverty, 24; and social movements, 297; as support, 58; and transnational corporations, 318; and unemployment, 83
Equality: and development, 367, 370; and economic globalization, 328–330; and education, 24–25; and eduscapes, 349; and family-centered policies and practices, 47, 186; and family issues, x, xi; and family rights, 40–41; and family well-being, 46–47, 329, 383; and social development, 361; and women, 43–44, 46, 186
Equity: and economic globalization,
331; within families, 108, 132; and full employment, 109–113; and gender-equitable employment, 76, 95–96, 104, 105, 106, 109–113, 273, 380; gender equity, 107–108, 186, 319; and meaningful employment, 79–80, 114n3; and sustainable development, 367; and world trade, 330

Ethics: and development, 370; and family definition, 14; and family well-being, 5; and globalization, 302, 305, 306–310; and goals, 237; and helping professionals, 164, 173; and new world ethic, 384, 385–386; and policy analysis, 164; and preventive policies, 167; and social issues, 127

Ethiopia, 145

Ethnocentrism: and family-centered policies and practices, 187; and family rights, 41; and family systems, 32, 34, 66; and helping professionals, 71; and heuristics of fear, 297; and mental models, 69, 74

Ethnoscapess, 347

European Union, 83, 117, 305, 313, 323, 332

Evaluation: and family-centered collaboration, 239; and family-centered policies and practices, 125, 126; and intervention logic and methods, 161; and lesson-drawing, 182; and policy alignment, 209–211; of policy theories, 163–165; and sensitizing concepts, 192; and structural adjustment, 321

Exiles, 347

Export processing zones, 316, 336n12, 341

Extended family systems, 6 Families: as active agents, 72–73; and advocacy roles, 265–267; as change agents, 254–256; concept of, xi–xii; as data sources, 203, 237; definition of, 13, 14, 29, 30–38, 50–51, 67–68; and democracy, 43–44, 63, 66, 74, 108, 131–132, 138, 379–380; and development, 370; and globalization, 296–297, 335n2; and goal achievement, 257–261; and health, 52, 102, 224; and hierarchical structure, xi, 22; images of, 66–73; importance of, 2–3, 9, 18; indices of strengths and contributions of, 52–55; and individual rights, x, xi, xii, 3; and international migration, 344; and mass media, 51; meaning and significance of, 8, 14, 28–30; as mental models, 66–69; normal/abnormal families, 68, 69–71; and policy development, 185–186; as policy makers, 255; as public goods, 119; and pull factors, 352–353; and service systems, 57; and social cohesion, x, xii, 3; as social institutions, 28–30, 32, 377; and social investment, 15, 64–65, 105, 117, 118, 124, 216, 218, 219, 221, 222, 236, 237; as social support networks, 55, 56, 59, 72, 105, 229, 238, 279; and social welfare, ix, 3; as social welfare institution, 3, 4–5, 15, 51–55, 105, 166, 173; and socioecological analysis, 35–37; transformation of, 6; as victims, 71–72

Family advocates: and change strategies, 256, 274; and citizenship, 250; as critical friends, 132–133; and development, 366, 373; effectiveness of, 73–75; and employ-
Family advocates (Continued)
doment, 76; and family-centered dialogue, 214; and family-centered policies and practices, 125, 139, 140, 147, 154; and family-centered visions, 10–11; and family expertise, 185; and family investment inventory, 64–65; and family issues, 50, 249; and familyscapes, 351; and family-support agendas, 186; and family systems, 66; and Familywatch, 387; and family well-being, 2, 5, 9, 22; and globalization, 293, 295, 305; and helping professionals, 275; and ideology, 127; and International Year of the Family, 2; and mass media, 283; and mental models, 74; and normal/abnormal families, 69; and patriarchy, 43; and policy analysis, 164–165; and political mobilization, 66–73; and private sector, 288–289; and scapes, 348; and scientific research, 159; and services, 61; and strategic decision-making, 160, 184
Family agency, 195
Family capital, 251–252. See also Human capital
Family-centered approaches, 2–4, 14, 16, 213
Family-centered collaboration: and barriers, 203–205, 248; and community building, 252; and consensus-based practices, 207; and family-centered dialogue, 239–247; and family-centered policies and practices, 186; and family expertise, 17, 71, 201; features of, 17; and helping professionals, 292, 384; promotion of, 200–201; and service integration, 176, 186; and strategic decision-making, 184
Family-centered dialogue: and domestic violence, 230–235, 241–246; and economic development, 214–223; and health, 223–229; and law enforcement, 233, 235–238; and social services, 224; 229–235
Family-centered policies and practices: and agenda setting, 127–133, 187; categorical approaches, 4, 133–140, 364; continuum of, 136–140; and cultural diversity, 139–152, 185, 381; design of, 14; and development, 366, 369; development of, 125–127, 151–152; and discourses, 213; and equality, 47, 186; and family-centered visions, 10, 12; and family expertise, 3, 61–62, 125, 131–132, 137–138, 185, 186; and family indices, 52; and family systems’ definition, 67; and family well-being, 28, 48, 153, 169; features of, 185–186; framework for, 17, 364, 365; and globalization, 293, 294, 359, 362, 375; and government, 115; and human rights, 3, 185, 229; and immigration, 360–361, 381; and integrative approach, 3–4; integrative thinking in, 106–108; investments in, 62–64; and meaningful employment, 104; national approaches to, 140–152; and policy impacts, 154; policy/practice relationship, 139; promotion of, 116; and regional alliances, 377; and social development, xvi, 113, 138; and social geography, 341; and unemployment, 87, 113–114; and value
Family-centered theory of action, 18, 378–387
Family-centered visions: case studies of, 193–196; and family-centered collaboration, 207; and family-centered policies and practices, 10, 12; and family expertise, 205; importance of, 9–10, 187–188; and Olympism, 10–11; and sensitizing concepts, 190; and theoretical orientations, 13; and value orientations, 11–12
Family development, 195
Family diversity: and case studies, 117; and duties/challenges, 4, 18, 35, 50; and family definition, 30–31, 32; and family systems, 34–35; and normal/abnormal families, 70; and service integration, 176; and strategic decision-making, 171–172; transcendence of, 8; and value commitments, 61
Family expertise: and barriers, 203–205; and families as data sources, 203; and family-centered collaboration, 17, 71, 201; and family-centered dialogue, 236, 237; and family-centered policies and practices, 3, 61–62, 123, 131–132, 137–138, 185, 186; and family impact assessment inventory, 155; and family needs, 207; and family-support agendas, 198–200; and helping professionals, 17, 62, 71, 185, 196, 383; and microenterprises, 206; and policy evaluation, 212; and policy makers, 3, 185, 196; and reframing, 203–205, 277; and service integration, 176–177; and value orientations, 12
Family-focused framework, 136–137, 138, 139
Family formation, 39–40
Family group conferences, 255–256
Family impact analyses: and agenda setting, 137, 290; assessment inventories, 17, 155–158, 164; and data sources, 273; and family-centered dialogue, 217, 227, 240; and grassroots activism, 269, 270–271; and local mobilization, 267–271
Family-insensitive framework, 136, 138, 139
Family investment inventory, 64–65
Family needs: and agenda setting, 127–128; case studies of, 120–124; and cultural diversity, 146; and democracy, 186; and discourses, 74, 128; and employment, 76; and family-centered policies and practices, 61; and family definition, 32, 35; and family diversity, 171; and family expertise, 207; framing of, 16, 118–120, 124, 127–130, 146; and gender relations, 14; and globalization, 302; and government, 9, 117; and helping professionals, 70–71, 131, 275, 277, 280, 292, 383; and individual needs, 149, 379; naming of, 16, 128–130; and nongovernmental organizations, 321; and policy discourse, 117, 152, 11; and presumptive policies, 169; responsibility for, 72; and service integration, 176; and societal changes, xv; and value orientations, 11; and women, 146–147, 149–150, 379
Family planning, 24, 25
Family politics, 30
Family preservation services, 178–179, 184, 196, 241–242

Family rights: and cultural diversity, 41, 144; family bill of rights, 201, 202, 207, 253; and family-centered policies and practices, 61, 115, 116; and family-support agendas, 148; importance of, 22; and individual rights, 38–41, 148–149; and legalscapes, 349; and meaningful employment, 80; and patriarchy, 42; and political mobilization, 1, 72–73; and polityscapes, 349; and United Nations, 39–41

Familiyscapes, 350, 384, 387

Family self-sufficiency, 117

Family-sensitive framework, 136, 138, 139

Family stress: and caregiving, 102; and categorical approaches, 174; and family-centered dialogue, 241; and family needs, 120; and family well-being, 21–22, 54–55, 56; and globalization, 303; and helping professionals, 60–61; indexes of, 26–27; and informal sector jobs, 97, 101; and rural areas, 320; and socioecological analysis, 36, 72; and strategic decision-making, 171; and supports, 59, 72; and unemployment, 94

Family-support agendas: approaches to, 147–149; components of, 195–196; and development, 373; and education, 173, 197; and family-centered policies and practices, 186; and family expertise, 198–200; framework for, 137, 138, 139; and individual needs, 14; and interpersonal gaps, 202–203; and lesson-drawing, 183

Family systems: and agenda setting, 277; analysis of, 30; changes in, 6; concept of, 32, 34–35; and cultural diversity, 29; dynamics of, 31; and equality, 329; and family well-being, 47; and globalization, 35, 303; images of, 66–73; importance of, 14; and individual needs, 277; and international migration, 344; and machine metaphor, 130; as metaphor, 34, 48–49; and network factors, 354; and polyculturalism, 18; and structure, 35; and underemployment, 319

Family unification policies, 361

Family values, 2, 68

Family violence. See Domestic violence

Familywatch, 18, 378, 384, 386–387

Family well-being: and capitalism, 312, 313, 347; and caregiving, 102; challenges to, 9; and change strategies, 255; and children, 40, 75, 129, 150–151, 308; and citizenship, 39; and commodified labor, 79; and crises, 5–6, 28, 72; and cultural diversity, 145; and data systems, 331; and development, 366, 368, 373, 374; and economic development, 4, 16, 62, 104, 381, 383; and economic globalization, 98, 329, 330; and economics, 5, 25, 48, 74; and educapes, 349; and equality, 46–47, 329, 383; and family-centered policies and practices, 28, 48, 153, 169; and family-centered vision, 187–188; and familyscapes, 350, 351; and gender equity, 107–108; and globalization, 293, 294, 303, 304, 309–310, 374; and government, 5, 16, 48, 62; and governmental policies, 2, 8, 9, 16;
and have/have-not gap, 25; and helping professionals, 2, 5, 9, 22, 71, 374, 383–384; and immigration policy, 361; indices related to, 14, 22–28, 44–48, 52; as individual and family right, 46; and individual well-being, 379; and international governance, 332; and migration, 359; and new-century policies and practices, 377; and policy development, 161; and policy makers, 2, 5, 9, 22, 264; promotion of, 4–5; and rural to urban migration, 341, 342; and scapes, 348; and social class, 47; and social development, 4, 62, 381, 383; and social welfare, 363; and unemployment, 16, 78, 95; and urban-scapes, 349; and welfare state, 382

Faraway bedroom community, 345

FDI (foreign direct investment), 313–314, 317

Fear, heuristics of, 296–297, 299, 306, 310, 331, 362, 366

Featherstone, M., 374

Female genital mutilation (FGM), 43, 95, 360

Finance, 297, 298, 316, 347

Finanscapes, 347

Fine, M., 327

Finland, 328

Flexible production, 316, 317

Florida, 17

Folbre, N., 105

Food preferences, 305

Food supply: and development, 368; and economics, 26; equal access to, 107, 308, 380; and globalization, 305, 310; and selective strategies, 167, 169

Foreign direct investment (FDI), 313–314, 317

Formal sector, and globalization, 304

Formal sector jobs: case study of, 99–100; competition for, 309; and economic globalization, 98, 100, 318, 330; and economics, 96; and socioeconomic status, 78; and transnational corporations, 7, 97, 98, 327

Framing: and agenda setting, 146, 261, 290; and change strategies, 255; and family-centered collaboration, 240; and family-centered dialogue, 230, 238–239; and family-centered vision, 188; of family needs, 16, 118–120, 124, 127–130, 146; and globalization, 298; and policy assessment, 281; and scientific research, 160

France, 265, 344

Frictional unemployment, 80

Fukuyama, F., 251, 252

Full employment, 107, 109–113, 349, 373

Gandhi, Mahatma, 284–285

Gay families, 73, 157, 191, 257–261. See also Diverse families; Homophobia; Nontraditional families; Sexual minorities; Sexual orientation; Sexual preferences

Gender-equitable employment: and data sources, 273; and democracy, 380; and demograhics, 106; and development, 380; and family-support agenda, 109–113; and family well-being, 76; and hysteresis, 95–96; and income supports, 105; and informal sector jobs, 104

Gender relations: and domestic labor, 77; and economic globalization, 319; and families, 380; and genderscapes, 348; and keep factors, 356–357; and migration, 352, 359; and unemployment, 78
Gender rights: and data sources, 273; and education, 96; and employment, 15; and family-centered approaches, 14; and informal sector jobs, 101; and political mobilization, 1

Gender roles: analysis of, 107; and division of labor, 102; and economic globalization, 319; and family definition, 51, 68; and family issues, 2; and keep factors, 355; and patriarchy, 41; and underemployment, 82–83

Genderscapes, 348–349

Gender violence: and emergent mental models, 68; and individual rights, 73; and patriarchy, 7, 43, 44, 66, 95; and push factors, 353

Germany, 344, 353, 367

Ghana, 356

Giddens, A., 102, 296, 332

Global economy: and employment, 78; and families, 104; and globalization, 311; and informal sector jobs, 25; and men, 100

Globalization: and austerity programs, 150; concept of, 293–301; consequences of, 18; and consumers, 269, 304, 306–310; and cosmopolitan democracy, 333; and deterritorialization, 340–345; and development, 293, 300, 305–374; facets of, 295–296, 302, 303–305, 311, 338, 374; and family-centered policies and practices, 293, 294, 359, 362, 375; and family issues, xvi, 17, 98; and familyscapes, 351; and family systems, 35, 303; and formal sector jobs, 98; and grassroots activism, 348; and helping professionals, 292, 293, 295, 305, 310, 374–375, 384; and homogenization, 294, 338, 341, 347, 348; and intercultural contact zones, 346–351; and intra- and interpersonal relationships, xv; and local mobilization, 253; and migration, 100, 304, 351, 359; and new-century policies and practices, 377; phases of, 299, 335; and resistance, 299–301, 338; and social welfare, 293, 294, 304, 362–365, 374–375; and standardization, 294, 347, 348

Global warming, 24

Global welfare, 332

Glocalization: and economic globalization, 374; and globalization, 339, 359, 363; and hybridization, 345–346, 348

Goals, 257–261, 264

Government: and capitalism, 312, 331–332; and cooperatives, 113; and development, 366, 372; and economic globalization, 311, 313–314, 321, 322, 325, 332; and economics, 311–312, 314; and family expertise, 62; and family issues, x, xii, xv, 52, 53; and family well-being, 5, 48, 49, 62; and formal sector jobs, 96; and free markets, 18; and globalization, 296, 303, 304, 305, 324; indices of family investment, 27–28; and liberalization, 311; and microenterprises, 28, 113; and outsourcing, 320; and regional alliances, 324; and standardization, 303, 317, 324, 325; and structural adjustment, 321; and transnational corporations, 28, 318; and unemployment, 81, 82

Governmental policies: and economic globalization, 311; and family well-being, 2, 8, 9, 16; and gender violence, 43; and globalization, 296; implementation of, 62; and unemployment, 78
Grace Hill Settlement House, 253
Grameen Bank, 109–111, 208, 369–370
Grassroots activism: and change strategies, 267–268; and family impact analyses, 269, 270–271; and family issues, x; and helping professionals, 276; and ideology, 127; and local mobilization, 253; possibilities for, 18; and scapes, 347–348. See also Local mobilization
Group identities, 346
Guest workers, 347, 352, 357
Guiding vision, 187
Gulf War, 298
Habitat for Humanity, 386
Halpern, R., 183
Handler, J., 196
HDI (Human Development Index), 376
Health: and advocacy, 266–267; and border crossing, 343; and categorical approaches, 12, 133; and child abuse/neglect, 95; and children, 23, 350; and development, 370, 373; and economics, 24; and elderscapes, 350; equal access to, 107, 380; and equality, 47; and families, 52, 102, 224; and family-centered approaches, 3, 15, 16, 381; and family-centered dialogue, 223–229; and family needs, 120, 146; and family-support agendas, 147–148, 173; and family well-being, 4, 54; and formal sector jobs, 96; and governmental policies, 63; and grassroots activism, 267–268; and healthscapes, 350; and home and family sector, 103; and human development, 45; indices related to, 23; and informal sector jobs, 25, 100; and meaningful work, 77, 104; as service, 57; and social class, 47–48; and supports, 59; and unemployment, 81, 82, 95; and universal health care, 314. See also Health services; Mental health
Healthscapes, 350
Health services: and development, 369; and economic globalization, 318, 320; and family-centered policies and practices, 115; family provision of, 50, 53; and globalization, 303; and government, 53; and immigration policy, 361, 381; and national debt, 25; and population growth, 308; and push factors, 353; as resources, 57
Held, David, 296, 333, 334
Helping professionals: and agenda setting, 276–280; and alignment indices, 211; and capacity building, 278, 279; and categorical approaches, 173; and change strategies, 274, 276; and competent practices, 189; as critical friends, 132–133; and cultural diversity, 185; and democracy, 292, 383; and development, 366, 368–369, 373; and dialectical analysis, 302, 374; and employment, 15, 76; and ethics, 164, 173; and family-centered collaboration, 292, 384; and family-centered dialogue, 214; and family-centered policies and practices, 12, 115, 125, 139, 140,
Helping professionals (Continued)
147, 153–154, 369; and family expertise, 17, 62, 71, 185, 196, 383; and family investment inventory, 64–65; and family issues, 1, 22, 50, 249; and family needs, 70–71, 131, 275, 277, 280, 292, 383; and family policy continuum, 138; and familyscapes, 351; and family stress, 60–61; and family-support agendas, 186, 197; and family systems, 66; and family well-being, 2, 5, 9, 22, 71, 374, 383–384; and global economy, 78; and globalization, 292, 293, 295, 305, 310, 374–375, 384; and hysteresis, 95; and ideology, 127; and illness/disease metaphors, 130; and individual-family dichotomy, 37; and International Year of the Family, 2; and interpersonal gaps, 202–203; and knowledgescapes, 350; and machine/systems metaphors, 130; and mass media, 283; and means-tested policies, 170; and normal/abnormal families, 69, 70–71; and patriarchy, 379, 383; and policy analysis, 164–165; and policy impact, 154, 155; and policy-practice skills, 274, 275, 276; and polyculturalism, 339; and preventive policies, 167; and resource needs, 58; and scapes, 348; and scientific research, 159; and services, 57; and social geography, 375n11; and social issues, 119; and strategic decision-making, 160, 171–172, 184; and unemployment, 87, 89–94; and value orientations, 11–12, 70; and vision, 292
Home and family sector: and caregivers, 97, 102–103, 109; and economics, 96; and income supports, 382; and meaningful work, 109; and socioeconomic status, 78; and women, 15, 52–53, 97, 102–103
Home-based family interviews, 277
Homelessness, 85, 205–206, 209
Homogenization: and cultural diversity, 296, 304, 345; and economic development, 317; and globalization, 294, 338, 341; and government, 303, 317, 324, 325; and modernization, 339; and organizational analysis, 303; and social institutions, 304
Homophobia, 201
Hoogvelt, A., 300, 326, 330
Housing: and cultural diversity, 145–146; and family-centered approaches, 3, 381; and family-centered policies and practices, 115; and family-supportive framework, 137; and family well-being, 150; and globalization, 309; and governmental policies, 62–63; as resource, 58, 60; and selective strategies, 167; and unemployment, 81; and urbanscapes, 349
Human capital: and development, 373; and economic globalization, 314, 322, 329, 336n7; investments in, 251–252, 325; and technology, 314–315; and transnational corporations, 7; and trust, 252
Human development, x, 45, 376n9
Human Development Index (HDI), 376n9
Human rights: and capitalism, 347; and civil society organizations, 332; and families, 38; and family-centered policies and practices, 3,
Index

185, 229; and family equality, 40; and family issues, x, xi, xii; and family rights, 119; and family unification policies, 361; and globalization, 310; and informal sector, 382; and legal issues, 290, 291; and meaningful employment, 109; nonnegotiable nature of, 14; and political mobilization, 84; and polyculturalism, 360; and push factors, 353; and resources, 60; and structural adjustment, 321; and supports, 59; and United Nations, 14, 70, 229

Huntington, S., 358

Hybridization, 345–346, 348, 351, 359

Hysteresis, 87–88, 94–96

Identityscapes, 349

Ideology, and policy makers, 126–127

Ideoscapes, 347

Illness/disease metaphor, 129

Immigrants and immigration: and change strategies, 254; and cultural diversity, 340; and development, 368, 370; and ethnoscapes, 347; and family-centered policies and practices, 360–361, 381; and family data, 344; and family rights, 116; and globalization, 304; and illegal aliens, 343; and keep factors, 357; and population of, 21; and pull factors, 352; and shadow economy, 354; and welfare reform, 269

Imperialism, 299, 300, 371

Income redistribution, 7

Income supports: and caregivers, 113, 149–150; and development, 372; and family-centered approaches, 381; and family preservation, 196; and family well-being, 382; and full employment, 109, 113; and gender-equitable employment, 105; and globalization, 309; and helping professionals, 76; and policy assessment, 281; and resources, 58, 60; and unemployment, 84; and women, 149–150

India, 24, 95, 146, 356

Indigenous agriculture, 6

Indigenous inventions, 185, 205–206, 207, 208–209

Indigenous people, 368, 377

Individual identities: and families, 3, 31; and family definition, 32; and globalization, 296–297, 303, 304, 345; and hybridization, 346; and identityscapes, 349; and meaningful work, 79; and nationalism, 358; and social support networks, 37

Individual needs: and families’ role, 1, 52; and family needs, 149, 379; and family-support agendas, 14; and family systems, 277; and family well-being, 16; and globalization, 302; and government, 117; and indices of well-being, 22; and individual-family dichotomy, 37–38; and nongovernmental organizations, 321; and presumptive policies, 169

Individual rights: and children, 73, 148, 149, 150; examples of, 14–15; and family issues, x, xi, xii, 3; and family rights, 38–41, 148–149; and family well-being, 16, 40; and legalscapes, 349; and meaningful employment, 80; and patriarchy, 42, 73; and United Nations, 39–41, 70; and United States, 116
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Term</th>
<th>Pages</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Individual well-being: and capitalism,</td>
<td>312, 347; and caregiving, 102; and development, 366, 368, 373; and</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>economic development, 16, 62; and economic globalization, 329, 330;</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>and eduscapes, 349; and equality, 329; and family-scapes, 351; and</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>family well-being, 379; and globalization, 293, 294, 304, 305, 310,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>374; and government, 9; and immigration policy, 361; indices related</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>to, 22, 44–48; and international governance, 332; and meaningful</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>work, 79; and patriarchy, 52; and poverty, 380; responsibility for,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>62; and rural to urban migration, 341; and social class, 47; and</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>urbanscapes, 349</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Industrialization: and deindustrializa-</td>
<td>tion, 318, 319, 327; and globalization, 309; and social welfare,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>tion, 318, 319, 327; and globalization,</td>
<td>27; and structural adjustment, 321; and technology, 25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Infotainment industry, 304, 340, 342,</td>
<td>345, 347, 348</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Instrumental rationality, 98</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Integrated services. See Service</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>integration</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Intercultural contact zones: and cultural</td>
<td>diversity, 359; and develop-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ment, 366; and economic globalization,</td>
<td>374; and family-centered</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>374; and family-centered policies and</td>
<td>practices, 365; as scapes, 18, 346–351; and social</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>practices, 365; and government, 9; and</td>
<td>welfare, 363</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>immigration policy, 361; and labor and</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>production, 352–353; and polityscapes,</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>349; and social welfare, 362–363</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>International Monetary Fund, 105, 261,</td>
<td>304, 372</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>301, 324</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>International pattering, 324</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>International relations, 312, 317</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>International social movements, 297</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>International Year of the Family (IYF):</td>
<td>and case studies, 116–117; and cultural diversity, 140, 141–146;</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>and case studies, 116–117; and cultural</td>
<td>and democracy, 43, 63, 138; and employment, 76; and family-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>diversity, 140, 141–146; and democracy,</td>
<td>centered policies and practices, 125; and family issues, ix, xiii,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>43, 63, 138; and employment, 76; and</td>
<td>1–2, 8; and family well-being, 150; and international develop-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>family-centered policies and practices,</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>125; and family issues, ix, xiii, 1–2, 8;</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>and family well-being, 150; and internatio-</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>nal development, 325–326</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ment, x; and particular social groups, xii; policy proclamations from, 16; questions raised by, 13–14; and subsidiarity principle, 172
Internet, 177, 284–285, 291, 347, 348
Interprofessional collaboration, 174–176, 186
Intervention logic, 161–163
Iraq, 298
Ireland, 144
Issue tracking, 288
Japan, 342, 344
Job rationing, 81
Jordan, 344, 345
Jordan, B., 172, 328, 371
Jordan, Michael, 346
Juvenile justice, 133, 278, 279, 280, 350
Kazakhstan, 24
Kenya, 103
King, Martin Luther, Jr., 256
Kipling, Rudyard, 305
Knowledge generation, 162–163
Knowledgescapes, 350, 374
Knowles, C., 69
Korea, Republic of, 145, 344
Krut, R., 332
Ku Klux Klan, 360
Kuwait, 298
Labor costs, 313, 315, 316, 318, 326
Labor smuggling industry, 354
Labor unions, 96, 309, 319
Ladder effect, 367
Lahav, G., 116
Landownership, 354
Langmore, J., 362
Language: and agenda setting, 128; and discourses, 213; and economic globalization, 315; and family advocates, 74; family as source of, 37; and framing, 17; and globalization, 299; and keep factors, 355; and multiculturalism, 360
Lash, S., 374
Latin America, 103
Law enforcement, 57, 70, 233, 235–238, 322
Legal issues: and family-support agendas, 148; and family well-being, 48; and individual and family rights, 38; and policy analysis, 164; and policy-practice skills, 290
Legalscapes, 349
Lesbian families, 73, 157, 191. See also Diverse families; Homophobia; Nontraditional families; Sexual minorities; Sexual orientation; Sexual preferences
Lesson-drawing, 180–184
Letters to the editor, 284–285, 291
Levinson, D., 44
Liberalization: assessment of, 324–331; composite of, 317–324; and economic globalization, 311; and familyscapes, 351; and globalization, 317; as international game, 312, 313–315, 324–325, 338; and world trade, 311, 313, 362
Life expectancy, 23, 24, 46, 95, 369
Lifestyle choices: and deterritorialization, 340; and development, 368; and economic globalization, 330; and globalization, 296, 297, 304, 306–310; and high-income nations, 315; and hybridization, 346; and identityscapes, 349; and keep factors, 355; and marketing, 345; sustainability of, 21
Localization, 339
Local mobilization: and capacity building, 251, 253; and family impact analyses, 267–271; and Local mobilization (Continued) family well-being, 252; and policy gaps, 267. See also Grassroots activism

Long-distance patriotism, 358

Machine metaphor, 129–130
Malaysia, 344
Mandela, Nelson, 256
Maoris, 255
Maquiladoras, 341
Marital dissolution, 39–40
Market economies, xi, 97, 311–312
Martin, P., 343–344, 352, 361
Mass media: and advocacy, 266; and cultural diversity, 340, 345; and families, 51; and globalization,
299, 340, 342; and policy makers,
126; and press conferences, 281–
285, 290; and recruitment, 287;
and scapes, 347; and testifying,
289
McMichael, P., 300, 344, 357, 358
Meaningful employment: definition of, 77, 79–80, 104; and development, 373; and family expertise, 206;
and family-centered policies and practices, 104; and home and family sector, 109; and human development, 45; and men, 77, 80, 318–319; as support, 58, 76;
and underemployment, 82
Means-tested policies, 169–170
Mediascapes, 347
Mediating economies, 316
Melting pot theory, 371
Men: and domestic labor, 102; and family issues, xi; and family needs, 146; and family systems, 67; and formal sector jobs, 98, 100; and Grameen Bank, 109; and informal sector jobs, 101; and meaningful employment, 77, 80, 318–319; and patriarchy, 42, 43, 44; and political arena, 66; and power, 308; and relational analysis, 36;
and transnational corporations,
101
Mental health: and children, 350; and counseling, 57, 101; and development, 373; and family needs, 120; and family well-being, 4, 54;
and healthscapes, 350; and helping professionals, 70; as social issue, 118; and unemployment, 81,
83, 87, 95
Mental models, 66–69, 71, 73–74
Mexico, 341–342, 344, 353
Microenterprises: and capacity building, 280; and cultural diversity, 345; and development, 370; and family expertise, 206; and full employment, 109; and government, 28, 113; and indigenous inventions, 208–209; and policy borrowing, 177; and poverty, 109, 110, 113; and transnational corporations, 6; and women, 110–111.
See also Small businesses
Micromarkets, 316, 346
Middle East, 343
Migration: and agricultural workers,
319–320; and development, 368;
and economics, 26; and family destabilization, 21; and family rights,
116; and globalization, 100, 304,
351, 359; and immigration policies, 360–361; and keep factors,
355–359; between nation-states,
343–345; within nation-states,
340, 341–342; and network factors, 354, 355, 359; and polyculturalism, 359; and poverty, 7, 23,
24, 26, 358, 380; and pull factors,
352–353, 355, 359; and push factors, 352, 353–354, 359; significance of, 18; and social geography, 351–359; and teaming, 265. See also Immigrants and immigration; Rural to urban migration
Mills, C., 118, 331
Missions, 188–189, 190
Mitsubishi, 307
Modernization: and globalization, 299, 300, 338, 339; and homogenization, 339; and lesson-drawing, 182; and structural adjustment, 321
Moral exclusion, 39, 85, 118, 370, 376n10
Morals: and family definition, 14; and family well-being, 5, 48; and globalization, 302, 305, 306–310; and means-tested policies, 170; and mental models, 69; and policy analysis, 164; and preventive policies, 167; and social issues, 127
MTV, 340, 342
Multiculturalism, 359–360
Multinational corporations, 25, 27, 250
Multiplier effects: and economic globalization, 324; and family needs, 120; and globalization, 297, 298, 306, 359
Muslims, 300, 344
Mutual aid societies: and development, 371; and health, 224; and helping professionals, 15; and immigration policies, 381; and interpersonal gaps, 202–203; and services, 57; and support, 58
Myanmar, 141, 148
NAFTA (North American Free Trade Agreement), 341–342
Naming: and agenda setting, 261, 290; and change strategies, 255; and family-centered collaboration, 240; and family-centered dialog, 230, 238–239; and family-centered vision, 188; of family needs, 16, 128–130; and policy assessment, 281; and scientific research, 160
National debts: and decline, 7–8; and developing nations, 25, 322, 322n10, 329, 373; and economics, 25; and globalization, 304; and structural adjustment, 321
National Family Impact Seminar, 155
Nationalism, 358, 359–360
Nation-states: and capitalism, 311–313, 331; and development, 367, 374; and economic globalization, 324, 328–329, 332; and employment, 78, 84; and family needs, 119; and globalization, 294, 300, 303, 304–305, 362, 374; and governmental planning, 8; and hysteresis, 95; and international governance, 333; and keep factors, 358; migration between, 340, 343–345; migration within, 340, 341–342; and social welfare, 117, 374–375
Negative cases, 181, 183
Neo-Nazis, 360
New Zealand, 133, 255
Nigeria, 141
Nike, 315, 316, 345
Nongovernmental organizations (NGOs): and civil society organization, 332; and development, 370; and discourses, 214; and economic globalization, 321; and family-centered policies and practices, 115; and family issues, xii; and formal sector jobs, 96; and International Year of the Family, 2
Nontraditional families, 145
Nontraditional marriages, 149
Index

Normative leaps, 159, 160, 161, 164
Norms of behavior: cultural diversity, 359; and development, 371; and domestic labor, 77; and domestic violence, 234; and families, 51, 52; and family-centered policies and practices, 153, 159; and family well-being, 4; and framing, 119; and lesson-drawing, 182; and meaningful employment, 79; and sensitizing concepts, 192; and unemployment, 78
North America, xi
North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA), 341–342
Norway, 7
Nuclear family, 31, 32, 68, 73, 318
Nurturance, 45, 66
Nutrition, 115, 369
Occupational development, 57
Olympic Games, 10–11
Ombudsmen, 203
Optimal practices, 189, 190
Organizational analysis, 303
Paradigms, 66–69
Parental leave, 59
Parent education, 167
Parents Anonymous, 133
Patriarchy: and civil society, 380; and cultural diversity, 44, 340; and democracy, 132, 379; and development, 371; and discourses, 2; and emergent mental models, 68; and family-centered policies and practices, 116; and family systems, 66, 308; and family well-being, 48, 52; and formal sector jobs, 100; and full employment, 107; and gentrification, 348; and gender violence, 7, 43, 44, 66, 95; and helping professionals, 379, 383; and home and family sector, 97; indices for mitigation/elimination of, 106–107; and individual rights, 42, 73; and informal sector jobs, 101; and keep factors, 355, 356–357; and poverty, 42; and power, 22, 41; problems of, 15; and women, 7, 41–44, 77, 379
Peacekeeping: and families, 74, 101; and social movements, 297
Performance-based systems, 171
Peripheral economies: and core economies, 317, 381–382; definition of, 316; and developing nations, 317; and world trade, 330
Personal accountability, 48
Petitioning, 285
Philippines, 353
Pierson, C., 98, 178
Pieterse, J., 358
Pluralism, 348
Poland, xii, 353, 357, 367
Policy alignment, 209–211, 239, 365
Policy analysis, 17, 163–165
Policy assessment, 126, 280–281
Policy borrowing: and lesson-drawing, 180–184; and strategic decision-making, 17, 155, 177–184; and technology transfer, 178–180
Policy briefs, 285–286, 290
Policy de-categorization, 174
Policy development: and families, 185–186; and intervention logic, 161–163; and policy analysis, 163–165; and residual approaches, 165; and scapes, 348, 350; and scientific research, 158–161, 162; and strategic decision-making, 17
Policy dialogues, 17
Policy impacts, 155–158, 209, 272
Policy makers: and advocacy, 266; and agenda setting, 261; and change strategies, 274; as critical friends, 132–133; and development, 366, 373; and discourses, 213–214; and economic globalization, 313; and employment, 76; families as, 255; and family-centered dialogues, 214; and family-centered policies and practices, 12, 125, 139, 140, 147, 154; and family expertise, 3, 185, 196; and family investment inventory, 64–65; and family issues, 1, 22, 50, 52, 249; and family needs, 119–120, 131; and familyscapes, 351; and family-support approach, 186; and family systems, 66; and family well-being, 2, 5, 9, 22, 264; and global economy, 78; and globalization, 293, 295, 305; and hysteresis, 95; and ideology, 126–127; and individual-family dichotomy, 37; and International Year of the Family, 2; and lesson-drawing, 180–181, 183; and mental models, 73–74; and new-century policies and practices, 377; and normal/abnormal families, 69; and policy analysis, 164–165; and policy borrowing, 178; and political economy, 311; and poverty, 250; and residual approaches, 165; and rhetoric, 126; and familyscapes, 348; and scientific research, 159; and services, 61; and social accountability, 48; and social issues, 119; and strategic decision-making, 160, 165–166, 184; and technology transfer, 180; and unemployment, 84, 215–223
Policy-practice skills: and advocacy, 265–267; and agenda setting, 276–280, 281, 290; and family impact analyses, 269; and helping professionals, 274, 275, 276; and issue tracking, 288; and legal issues, 290; and petitioning, 285; and policy assessment, 280–281; and policy briefs, 285–286; and press conferences, 281–285, 290; and private sector, 288–289; and public forums, 288, 291; and recruitment, 286–287; and reframing, 255; and teaming, 264–265, 291; and testifying, 289–290, 291
Policy review, 271–274
Policy taking, 178, 322
Political economy, 311, 331–335
Political interests: and economic globalization, 322–323; and globalization, 304; and lesson-drawing, 183; and liberalization, 311, 314; and policy development, 158
Political mobilization: and divergent viewpoints, 348; and family advocates, 66–73; and family rights, 1, 72–73; grassroots activism, x, 18, 127, 253, 267–268, 269, 270–271, 276, 347–348; local mobilization, 251, 252, 253, 267, 268–271; and familyscapes, 349; and familyscapes, 347; and unemployment, 84
Political participation, 129
Political will, 335
Polityscapes, 349
Polyculturalism, 18, 359–360, 371
Population Council, 148–149
Population growth: and agricultural resources, 24; and development, 372; and education, 23; and families as, 255; and family issues, 1, 22, 50, 52, 249; and family needs, 119–120, 131; and family systems, 66; and family well-being, 2, 5, 9, 22, 264; and global economy, 78; and globalization, 293, 295, 305; and hysteresis, 95; and ideology, 126–127; and individual-family dichotomy, 37; and International Year of the Family, 2; and lesson-drawing, 180–181, 183; and mental models, 73–74; and new-century policies and practices, 377; and normal/abnormal families, 69; and policy analysis, 164–165; and policy borrowing, 178; and political economy, 311; and poverty, 250; and residual approaches, 165; and rhetoric, 126; and familyscapes, 348; and scientific research, 159; and services, 61; and social accountability, 48; and social issues, 119; and strategic decision-making, 160, 165–166, 184; and technology transfer, 180; and unemployment, 84, 215–223
Policy-practice skills: and advocacy, 265–267; and agenda setting, 276–280, 281, 290; and family impact analyses, 269; and helping professionals, 274, 275, 276; and issue tracking, 288; and legal issues, 290; and petitioning, 285; and policy assessment, 280–281; and policy briefs, 285–286; and press conferences, 281–285, 290; and private sector, 288–289; and public forums, 288, 291; and recruitment, 286–287; and reframing, 255; and teaming, 264–265, 291; and testifying, 289–290, 291
Policy review, 271–274
Policy taking, 178, 322
Political economy, 311, 331–335
Political interests: and economic globalization, 322–323; and globalization, 304; and lesson-drawing, 183; and liberalization, 311, 314; and policy development, 158
Political mobilization: and divergent viewpoints, 348; and family advocates, 66–73; and family rights, 1, 72–73; grassroots activism, x, 18, 127, 253, 267–268, 269, 270–271, 276, 347–348; local mobilization, 251, 252, 253, 267, 268–271; and familyscapes, 349; and familyscapes, 347; and unemployment, 84
Political participation, 129
Political will, 335
Polityscapes, 349
Polyculturalism, 18, 359–360, 371
Population Council, 148–149
Population growth: and agricultural resources, 24; and development, 372; and education, 23; and families as, 255; and family issues, 1, 22, 50, 52, 249; and family needs, 119–120, 131; and family systems, 66; and family well-being, 2, 5, 9, 22, 264; and global economy, 78; and globalization, 293, 295, 305; and hysteresis, 95; and ideology, 126–127; and individual-family dichotomy, 37; and International Year of the Family, 2; and lesson-drawing, 180–181, 183; and mental models, 73–74; and new-century policies and practices, 377; and normal/abnormal families, 69; and policy analysis, 164–165; and policy borrowing, 178; and political economy, 311; and poverty, 250; and residual approaches, 165; and rhetoric, 126; and familyscapes, 348; and scientific research, 159; and services, 61; and social accountability, 48; and social issues, 119; and strategic decision-making, 160, 165–166, 184; and technology transfer, 180; and unemployment, 84, 215–223
Population growth (Continued)
poverty, 23–24, 309; and push factors, 353–354; and rural to urban migration, 26, 341
Portugal, 344, 345
Postmodernism, 338, 339
Poverty: and abandonment, 357; and caregiving, 103; and categorical approaches, 382; and citizenship, 250; costs of, 83–96; and development, 368, 369, 372, 380; and developmentscapes, 349; and economic development, 369, 380; and economic globalization, 325, 326, 328, 329, 330; and education, 23, 380; and eduscapes, 349; and environment, 24; and family-centered policies and practices, 151; and family issues, xi–xii; and family well-being, 16, 47, 48, 54, 380, 383; and genderscapes, 349; and globalization, 310; and immigration policies, 360; indices for, 23; and individual and family rights, 40; and keep factors, 356, 357; and microenterprises, 109, 110, 113; and migration, 7, 23, 24, 26, 358, 380; and negative cases, 183; and normal/abnormal families, 69; and patriarchy, 42; and policy borrowing, 177; and population growth, 23–24, 309; and resources, 58; and strategic decision-making, 165; and structural adjustment, 321; and unemployment, 78, 84; and welfare grants, 106; and women, 43, 83, 96, 102, 183, 349
Power: and agenda setting, 261, 262–263; and change strategies, 257; and employment, 77; and family-centered policies and practices, 131, 186; and family-centered vision, 188; and family needs, 146; and family politics, 30; and gender roles, 355; and globalization, 294, 300; and helping professionals, 276; and patriarchy, 22, 41; redistribution of, 48; and relational analysis, 36–37, 43, 301; and scapes, 351; and socioecological analyses, 36; and socioeconomic status, 78. See also Empowerment
Preferential feeding patterns, 42
Press conferences, and policy-practice skills, 281–285, 290
Presumptive policies, 169–170
Prevention gap, 167
Prevention policies: and family-centered dialogue, 222, 224, 226, 229, 232, 239, 241; and family-centered policies and practices, 186, 272; and strategic decision-making, 166–167, 168
Price factor equalization theory, 328
Privacy, 69, 70, 71
Private domain, 62, 118, 119
Private sector: and economic determinism, 323; and family issues, x; and formal sector jobs, 96, 97; and human capital, 314; and issue tracking, 288; policy making in, 288–289; and transnational corporations, 318; and unemployment, 84
Privatization of services, 311, 314, 321, 322, 323
Problem setting, 128
Problem solving: and change strategies, 261, 263; and crisis, 254; and family expertise, 71; and grassroots activism, 268; and helping professionals, 278; and residual approaches, 166; and selec-
Index 455

Regional influences, 339
Rein, M., 162
Relational analysis: and development, 366, 369; and families, 36; and family-centered dialogue, 221; and family stress, 72; and globalization, 301–310, 362; and helping professionals, 374; and migration, 351; and patriarchy, 43; and social welfare, 375
Relational approach, 134–140
Religion: and armed conflicts, 358–359; and democracy, 132; and development, 371; and family-centered vision, 188; and framing, 119; and globalization, 297, 300, 338, 339; and keep factors, 355, 356, 358; and private domain, 118; and pull factors, 356; and push factors, 353, 356; and religiouscapes, 350; and residual mental models, 68; and teaming, 264, 265; and unemployment, 84
Religiouscapes, 350
Residual approaches, 165–166, 168
Residual mental models, 68
Resistance, 37, 176, 299–301, 338, 360
Resources: and capitalism, 312; definition of, 57–58; and families, 377; and family-centered collaboration, 240; and family stress, 72; and helping professionals, 276; interrelationship with services and support, 58–61; and political economy, 311; and scientific research, 158, 161; water resources, 310. See also Agricultural resources
Rhetoric, 126
Rights. See Family rights; Gender rights; Human rights; Individual rights

Resources: and capitalism, 312; definition of, 57–58; and families, 377; and family-centered collaboration, 240; and family stress, 72; and helping professionals, 276; interrelationship with services and support, 58–61; and political economy, 311; and scientific research, 158, 161; water resources, 310. See also Agricultural resources
Rhetoric, 126
Rights. See Family rights; Gender rights; Human rights; Individual rights

Regional alliances: and development, 367, 374; and economic globalization, 323–324, 332; and family-centered policies and practices, 377; and globalization, 294, 374
Regional analyses, 305
Regional government, 305, 362

Regional influences, 339
Rein, M., 162
Relational analysis: and development, 366, 369; and families, 36; and family-centered dialogue, 221; and family stress, 72; and globalization, 301–310, 362; and helping professionals, 374; and migration, 351; and patriarchy, 43; and social welfare, 375
Relational approach, 134–140
Religion: and armed conflicts, 358–359; and democracy, 132; and development, 371; and family-centered vision, 188; and framing, 119; and globalization, 297, 300, 338, 339; and keep factors, 355, 356, 358; and private domain, 118; and pull factors, 356; and push factors, 353, 356; and religiouscapes, 350; and residual mental models, 68; and teaming, 264, 265; and unemployment, 84
Religiouscapes, 350
Residual approaches, 165–166, 168
Residual mental models, 68
Resistance, 37, 176, 299–301, 338, 360
Resources: and capitalism, 312; definition of, 57–58; and families, 377; and family-centered collaboration, 240; and family stress, 72; and helping professionals, 276; interrelationship with services and support, 58–61; and political economy, 311; and scientific research, 158, 161; water resources, 310. See also Agricultural resources
Rhetoric, 126
Rights. See Family rights; Gender rights; Human rights; Individual rights

Regional alliances: and development, 367, 374; and economic globalization, 323–324, 332; and family-centered policies and practices, 377; and globalization, 294, 374
Regional analyses, 305
Regional government, 305, 362

Regional alliances: and development, 367, 374; and economic globalization, 323–324, 332; and family-centered policies and practices, 377; and globalization, 294, 374
Regional analyses, 305
Regional government, 305, 362

Regional alliances: and development, 367, 374; and economic globalization, 323–324, 332; and family-centered policies and practices, 377; and globalization, 294, 374
Regional analyses, 305
Regional government, 305, 362

Regional alliances: and development, 367, 374; and economic globalization, 323–324, 332; and family-centered policies and practices, 377; and globalization, 294, 374
Regional analyses, 305
Regional government, 305, 362

Regional alliances: and development, 367, 374; and economic globalization, 323–324, 332; and family-centered policies and practices, 377; and globalization, 294, 374
Regional analyses, 305
Regional government, 305, 362

Regional alliances: and development, 367, 374; and economic globalization, 323–324, 332; and family-centered policies and practices, 377; and globalization, 294, 374
Regional analyses, 305
Regional government, 305, 362
Riley, N., 340, 356, 357

Ripple effects: and consumer goods, 306–307; and development, 369; and economic determinism, 323; and economic globalization, 319, 324, 336n8; and equality, 47; and family-centered collaboration, 203; and family-centered policies and practices, 106, 365; and family impact inventory, 164; and family stress, 22; and globalization, 297, 298, 306, 307, 309–310, 359; and hysteresis, 95; and socioecological analyses, 36

Robertson, R., 298, 299, 351

Romania, 357

Rose, Richard, 179–181, 182, 183

Roudometof, V., 351

Rural to urban migration: and deterritorialization, 341–342; and development, 372; and economic globalization, 319–320; and family transformation, 6; and globalization, 309; and population growth, 26, 341; and poverty, 24; and structural unemployment, 320

Sabatelli, R. M., 66

Sabotage, 300

Safety, 147

Scandinavia, 23, 84, 328

Scapes, as intercultural contact zones, 18, 346–351

Scarcity, 373

Schön, D., 162, 294

Scientific research, 158–161, 162, 163, 164

Self-assessment, 256

Self-interest, 253

Self-sufficiency, 322

Self-worth, 46

Sen, A., 195, 369

Sensitizing concepts, and family-centered vision, 189–192

Service integration: and categorical approaches, 173–177, 248; and education, 175, 176, 189; and family-centered collaboration, 176, 186; and family-centered policies and practices, 155; and family well-being, 383; and helping professionals, 383; and lesson-drawing, 183

Service sectors, 96, 320

Service systems: definition of, 57; and family-centered policies and practices, 115; interrelationship with resources and support, 58–61

Sexual harassment, 107

Sexual minorities, 250

Sexual orientation, 80

Sexual preferences, 89

Shadow economy, 354

Shared leadership, 262, 291

Slavery, 95, 102

Small businesses: and cultural diversity, 345, 375n2; and families, 381; and globalization, 304; and transnational corporations, 318; and women, 102. See also Microenterprises

Social accountability, 48

Social capital, 371, 380

Social class, 47–48, 77, 114n1, 132

Social cohesion, x, xii, 3

Social control, 29

Social-cultural capital, 371

Social development: and developing nations, 26; and developmentscapes, 349; and economic development, 367; and economic globalization, 299; and equality, 361; families as agents of, 53; and family-centered policies and practices, xvi, 113, 138; and family-centered visions, 10; and family issues, xii; and family rights, 73; and family well-being, 4, 62, 381, 383; and globalization, 293, 365; and lesson-drawing, 181, 182; and patriarchy, 7, 379; and social investments, 124, 381; and social welfare, 363
Social exclusion: and development, 370; and immigration policies, 360–361; and keep factors, 356; and push factors, 353, 358; and religion, 358–359; and unemployment, 82
Social expenditures, 105
Social geography: and family movement, 351–359; and glocalization, 339; and helping professionals, 37511; and rural to urban migration, 341, 345; and scapes, 346; and socioecology analyses, 36
Social institutions: families as, 28–30, 32, 377; and globalization, 296, 304, 339; and helping professionals, 3; and homogenization, 304; and lesson-drawing, 181; and standardization, 296
Social investments: and economic development, 381; and employment, 76; and families, 15, 64–65, 105, 117, 118, 124, 216, 218, 219, 221, 222, 236, 237; and immigration policy, 361; and policy briefs, 285–286; and prevention policies, 272; and social development, 124, 381; and stakeholders, 249; and welfare state, 105, 249
Social issues: family needs as, 118–119, 120, 124, 127, 128, 146; framing of, 160
Socialization, 29–30, 38
Social justice, 331
Social marginalization, 78, 82, 84, 109, 120
Social-moral philosophy, 5
Social movements, 296–297, 347, 348, 350
Social problems, 1
Social processes, x
Social security: and development, 372; and family-centered approaches, 381; and family rights, 40; and family well-being, 150; and globalization, 308, 309; and presumptive policies, 169
Social services: and development, 370, 373; and economic globalization, 318, 320; families compared to, 50; and family-centered dialogue, 224, 229–235; and family issues, xi; and globalization, 303; and immigration policy, 361; and national debt, 25; and population growth, 308; and push factors, 353
Social support networks: and development, 371; and domestic labor, 102; and elderscapes, 350; families as, 55, 56, 59, 72, 105, 229, 238, 279; and identityscapes, 349; and individual-family dichotomy, 37; and meaningful work, 104; and microenterprises, 111; as natural helping systems, 12; and nurturance, 45; and social issues, 124
Social welfare: agenda map, 363; and caregivers, 382; discourse on, 117–118, 125; and domestic labor, 77; and economic globalization, 314, 321, 322–323, 329; and families, ix, 3; and globalization, 293, 294, 304, 362–365, 374–375; and political interests, 158; and push factors, 354; and scapes, 348; and structural adjustment, 321; and unemployment, 81, 327
Social work, 374–375
Socioecological analysis: and change strategies, 255; and families, 35–37; and family well-being, 47; and home-based family interviews, 277; and metaphors, 130
Socioeconomic status, 77–78, 114
South Africa, 95, 256, 269, 343
South America, 300, 307
South East Asia, 328
Soviet Union, 312
Space-time compression, 297–298, 340, 351
Stakeholders: and advocacy, 266; and change strategies, 274; and families as data sources, 203; and family-centered visions, 188, 207; and issue tracking, 288; and social investments, 249; and stakeholder assessment, 191, 207
Standardization: and economic development, 317; and globalization, 294, 347, 348; and government, 303, 317, 324, 325; and organizational analysis, 303; of policies and practices, 313; and social institutions, 296; and time, 299; of weights and measures, 298
Standard of living, 80, 84, 150, 328, 331
Strategic decision-making: and change strategies, 254; crisis-responsive policy traditions vs. prevention policies, 166–167, 168; and development, 370; families vs. established organizations, 170–171; and family-centered policies and practices, 154–155; and family diversity, 171–172; and integrated services, 173–177; and normative leap, 159; and policy borrowing, 17, 155, 177–184; and policy development, 17; presumptive vs. means-tested policies, 169–170; and residual vs. institutional approaches, 165–166; selective strategies vs. universal entitlement programs, 167, 169; and strengths-based assessments, 173; and subsidiarity principle, 172
Stakeholders: and advocacy, 266; and change strategies, 274; and families as data sources, 203; and family-centered visions, 188, 207; and issue tracking, 288; and social investments, 249; and stakeholder assessment, 191, 207
Strategic decision-making: and change strategies, 254; crisis-responsive policy traditions vs. prevention policies, 166–167, 168; and development, 370; families vs. established organizations, 170–171; and family-centered policies and practices, 154–155; and family diversity, 171–172; and integrated services, 173–177; and normative leap, 159; and policy borrowing, 17, 155, 177–184; and policy development, 17; presumptive vs. means-tested policies, 169–170; and residual vs. institutional approaches, 165–166; selective strategies vs. universal entitlement programs, 167, 169; and strengths-based assessments, 173; and subsidiarity principle, 172
Sub-Saharan Africa: and agricultural resources, 368; and AIDS, 23, 376n4; and health indices, 23; and informal sector jobs, 101; and poverty, 330
Subsidiarity principle, 172
Subsistence farming, 300, 305, 307, 320
Substance abuse: and family stress, 36, 319; and selective strategies, 167; as social issue, 118, 119; and unemployment, 81, 83, 84
Supports: and change strategies, 263; definition of, 58–59; and employment, 76; and family needs, 277–

Downloaded from cupola.columbia.edu and family stress, 59, 72; and Grameen Bank, 111; interrelationship with services and resources, 58–61; and unemployment, 84, 87. See also Family-support agendas; Income supports; Social support networks
Surplus labor pool, 97, 101
Survival needs: and development,
367, 373; and family-centered policies and practices, 151; and family well-being, 4; and keep factors, 356; and push factors,
354; and unemployment, 78
Sustainable development: and equity,
367; and family-centered dialogue,
218; and family issues, 9, 381;
and indigenous invention, 208;
and International Year of the Family, x; and patriarchy, 106; and strategic decision-making, 184
Sweatshops, 96, 101, 271, 309
Sweden, 29, 84, 328, 360
Swedish Contact Family Model, 253
Syrian Arab Republic, 144
Systems analysis, 302
TANF (Temporary Assistance to Needy Families), 163–164,
184#3
Taxation: and export processing zones, 316; and globalization, 307; and liberalization, 313; and presumptive policies, 170; and push factors, 354; and rural to urban migration, 341; and transnational corporations, 315, 318
Teaming, 262–265, 291
Technology: and agriculture, 319; and economics, 25; and formal sector jobs, 100; and globalization, 302, 351; and human capital development, 314–315; and indices, 24–26; and pull factors, 352; and resources, 57–58; and rural to urban migration, 341; and technoscpes, 347; and unemployment, 81, 118
Technology transfer, 178–180, 182,
183, 215
Technoscpes, 347
Temporary Assistance to Needy Families (TANF), 163–164, 184#3
Terrorism, 300
Testifying, and policy-practice skills,
289–290, 291
Thailand, 44, 141
Thatcher, Margaret, 323
TNCs. See Transnational corporations
Tobin Tax, 373
Tourists, 347
Trade. See World trade
Transferability, and policy borrowing, 180–184
Transnational corporations: and agenda setting, 261; and core economies, 316, 317; and corporate profits, 8; and economic determinism, 323; and economic globalization, 313, 314, 317; and family-centered dialogue, 217; and formal sector jobs, 7, 97, 98, 327;
and government, 28, 318; and high-income nations, 326–327;
and labor costs, 313, 315, 318,
326; and men, 101; and relocation threats, 317–318, 327; and teaming, 265; and unemployment, 83,
118; and work, 6–7
Transportation: and economic globalization, 313; and export processing zones, 316; and food supply,
305; and mediating economies,
Transportation (Continued)
316; as resource, 57; and unemployment, 81; and urbanscapes, 349

Trickle-down theory, 27, 323

Trust, 201, 251, 252, 292

Trzcinski, E., 130

Turkey, 145–146, 265, 344, 353

Ukraine, 100, 368

Underemployment: costs of, 83–96; and development, 368; and equality, 36; and family-centered approaches, 15; and family-centered policies and practices, 114; and family needs, 159–160; and family systems, 319; and informal sector jobs, 97; meaning of, 82–83; and push factors, 353; and social issues, 118; and socioeconomic status, 78

Unemployment: case studies of, 85; chronic unemployment, 81–82, 319; costs of, 83–96; cycles of, 87, 88; and development, 368; and equality, 46; and equity, 114#3; and family-centered approaches, 15; and family-centered dialogue, 215–223; and family-centered policies and practices, 87, 113–114; and family needs, 159–160; and family systems, 319; and family well-being, 16, 78, 95; and globalization, 304; and informal sector jobs, 327; and keep factors, 353; pervasiveness of, 6–7; phases of, 86; and push factors, 353; short-term/long-term, 80–82; and social marginalization, 78, 82, 84, 109; and socioecological analysis, 36; and socioeconomic status, 78; and teaming, 265; and welfare state, 85, 87, 95, 329

UNICEF, 23

Unions, 96, 309, 319

United Kingdom: and cultural diversity, 340; and economic globalization, 313; and polyculturalism, 360; and presumptive policies, 169; and social welfare discourse, 117; and social welfare politics, 158; and welfare reform, 269

United Nations: and child labor, 103; and domestic labor, 102; and family issues, 8; and family rights, 39–41, 70; and family-support agendas, 147; and gender violence, 44; and globalization, 324–325; and human rights, 14, 70, 229; and individual rights, 39–41, 70; and International Year of the Family, ix, xii, 1; and subsidiarity principle, 172; and women, 149

United States: and anti-sweatshop movement, 271; case studies from, 193–196; and civil rights strategies, 166; and drug and alcohol education policies and programs, 158; and employment, 327; and family-centered policies and practices, 134, 147, 187, 280; and family impact analysis, 155; and globalization, 300; and helping professions, 173–174; and indigenous people, 368; and individual rights, 116; and international migration, 344; and nomad dads, 345; and policy borrowing, 178; and polyculturalism, 360; and pulp production, 307; and resources, 58, 60; and school-linked social and health services, 133; and shadow economy, 354; and social development, 39; and social welfare discourse, 117; and social welfare politics, 158; and unemployment, 80; and wages, 327–328; and walled-in communities, 342; and welfare grants, 106; and welfare reform, 163–165, 269

Universal Declaration of Rights, x
Universal entitlements, 117, 169
Urbanization, 98, 320, 341, 349. See also Rural to urban migration
Urbanscapes, 349
Uzbekistan, 60

Value orientations: and cultural diversity, 359; and domestic labor, 77; and family-centered policies and practices, 61–62, 140, 153, 159; and family-centered visions, 11–12; and family definitions, 14, 51; and family systems, 66; and policy development, 163; and private domain, 118
Value rationality, 98
Vested interests, 300
Victims, 71–72
Vision: and change strategies, 254, 256–257, 263; and helping professionals, 292; Olympic games as example of, 10–11; and teaming, 264. See also Family-centered visions

Wages: and caregivers, 382; and core economies, 317; and development, 372, 373; and economic globalization, 313, 318, 327–328; equality in, 107; and equity, 80; and formal sector jobs, 96, 97; and globalization, 303, 309; and home and family sector, 97, 109; and income gaps, 326; and informal sector jobs, 96–97; and peripheral economies, 316–317; and transnational corporations, 318; and women, 97, 106

Waring, M., 102
Wars. See Armed conflicts
Water resources, 310
Web sites, 389–390
Weis, L., 327

Welfare state: and capitalism, 329, 337n15; and demogrants, 106; and development, 373, 376n12; and domestic labor, 105; and economic globalization, 17–18, 322; and formal sector jobs, 96; and globalization, 17–18; and liberalization, 311; policies and functions of, 382–383; restructuring of, 8, 314, 320, 322, 325, 329; and social and economic development, 381; and social investments, 105, 249; and support services, 56; and unemployment, 85, 87, 95, 329

Western Europe, xi, 105, 106, 169. See also European Union
Westernization, 299, 300

Widgren, J., 343–344, 352, 361
Wilkinson, P., 111
Wilkinson, R., 47–48
Wilson, W. J., 327

Women: and armed conflicts, 26; as caregivers, 16, 27, 48, 52, 73, 77; and categorical policy frames, 133; and commodified labor, 79; and cultural diversity, 144–145; and deindustrialization, 327; and democracy, 132; and development, 371, 372, 373; and domestic labor,
Women (Continued)
101–103; and domestic violence, 22; and economics, 356–357; and education, 23, 151, 309, 380; and employment, 15, 25, 27, 43, 52, 97, 101, 271, 309, 319, 320, 336m8, 12, 341–342; and equality, 43–44, 46, 186; and family-centered policies and practices, 379; and family equality, 40, 41; and family issues, xi, xii; and family needs, 146–147, 149–150, 379; and family privacy, 70; and family rights, 41–44, 148, 149; and family systems, 67; and food supply, 310; and formal sector jobs, 98, 100, 319; and gender-equitable family support index, 107–108; and genderscapes, 348; and Grameen Bank, 109; and health indices, 23; and home and family sector, 15, 52–53, 97, 102–103; and human development, 45; and informal sector jobs, 25, 27, 97, 101, 309, 319; and labor smuggling industry, 354; and mass media, 345; and meaningful employment, 77, 80; and mental models, 74; and microenterprises, 110–111; and network factors, 354; and new-century policies and practices, 377; and patriarchy, 7, 41–44, 77, 379; and peripheral economies, 317; and poverty, 43, 83, 96, 102, 183, 349; and preferential feeding patterns, 42–43; as refugees, 343; and relational analysis, 36; and social capital, 371; and social investments, 105; and wages, 97, 106
Woodward, D., 330, 367
Work sectors, 96–97
Work. See Employment; Underemployment; Unemployment
World Bank, 105, 261, 304, 342, 372
World family metaphor, 296
World Summit for Social Development, ix
World trade: and categorical policy frames, 133; and economic globalization, 323–324, 330; and equity, 330; and flexible production, 316; and globalization, 297, 299, 300, 304, 305; and keep factors, 357; and liberalization, 311, 313, 362; and pull factors, 352, 353; and push factors, 352, 353; and trade agreements, 28
World Trade Organization, 300
World Wide Web, 345, 350
Youthscapes, 350