ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

In Their Siblings’ Voices is a collaborative among special people across diverse racial and ethnic backgrounds, socioeconomic statuses, and interests, who share a common goal of promoting public awareness about transracial adoption. We warmly thank each of you—friends, family, colleagues, foster, adopted, and non-adopted youth and adults, parents and scholars—as well as our long-standing publisher and the media for your expertise, prayers, support, and exposure in making this important work come to fruition.

Although we are not acknowledging each individual or organization by name because the list would be quite extensive, you all know who you are. Your presence in our lives both personally and professionally has made us better people and has helped us stay the course in bringing our readers valuable information on transracial adoption.

Thank you.
