

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments xi

Introduction WHAT INTERRACIAL
COUPLES CAN TELL US 1

Significance of the Book 5

Unpacking Basic Concepts: Race,
Discrimination, and Miscegenation 6

Interracial in the Age of Obama: The Impact of Color-Blind and “Postracial” Discourses 11

The Politics of Voice: A Note from the Author 16

The Couples, the Interviews, and Analysis 18

One RACIALIZED BODIES AND BORDERS
IN THE UNITED STATES 22

Defining and Demarcating Borders 23

Interracial Borders from the Sixteenth Century to the Present 30

Trends in Black–White Intermarriage 40

CONTENTS

Race and Sex Differences in Marriage Rates: The “Marriage Squeeze”	42
Interracial Mate-Selection Theories	45
Summary	55
Two CROSSING A BLACK-AND-WHITE BORDER: CHOOSING THE OTHER	56
Attraction and Falling in Love	58
Partners’ Reactions to Differences	62
Is There Any Difference?	67
Negotiating Differences in Axes of Power to Establish a Couple Identity	71
In Black and White: The Border of Race	74
He Said, She Said: The Border of Gender	78
Summary	79
Three CROSSING COMMUNITY BORDERS: FAMILIES OF ORIGIN, FRIENDS, AND SOCIETY AT LARGE	81
Social Support and Resistance to the Relationship	83
Strategies of Coping with Reactions	91
Multiracial Couples and Social Networks	95
Partner Sensitivity to Racism: The Community Context	96
Summary	101
Four A NEXUS OF BORDERS: THE NEXT GENERATION, AND INTERSECTIONS OF RACE, CLASS, AND GENDER	103
The Next Generation and Their Opportunities	104
A Persistent Question: “What About the Children?”	109
Intersections of Gender and Race	112

CONTENTS

Intersections of Race and Class	114
White Male and Female Partners	116
About Difference: Social and Political Dimensions	118
Happy Together? Processes Contributing to Couple Identity Formation	120
Couple Identities and Negotiation Styles	123
Summary	132
Five RAISING (AND ERASING) DIFFERENCE: DOMINANT AND MARGINALIZED DISCOURSES IN INTERRACIAL COUPLES' NARRATIVES	133
What Is Discourse Analysis?	134
The Discourse of Homogamy	135
The Discourse of Hypersensitivity	138
The Discourse of History's Insignificance	141
What These Findings Say About Multiracial Couples	145
An Overarching Discourse of "No Race Talk"	147
Summary	148
Six SYSTEMIC INTERVENTIONS WITH INTERRACIAL COUPLES	150
The Art of Drawing Distinctions Instead of Conclusions	150
What Couples Said About Therapy	152
Couples Who Might Present for Therapy	158
Specific Assessments and Interventions	164
A Narrative Approach to Therapy with Multiracial Couples	169
Summary	175

CONTENTS

Seven (RE)PRESENTATIONS OF INTERRACIAL COUPLES IN CINEMA, LITERATURE, AND RESEARCH 177

Cinema and Literature: Racial Logics and the Hegemonic Aesthetics of Intimacy 178

Interracial Couples' Own Depictions of Their Intimate Relations 190

Reflecting on the Research and the Researcher:
Integrating the Interview Process 194

Are Interracial Couples Different from Intraracial Couples? 198

Salience of Identities: Under Which Conditions, and Which Identities? 201

Appendix A. Summary of Participant Information 207

Appendix B. Assessment Inventories 213

Appendix C. Directions for Scoring the Assessment Inventories 221

Appendix D. Resources for Interracial Couples and Multiracial Families and Individuals 229

Notes 233

References 237

Index 253

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

COMMUNITY SOCIAL SUPPORT is a wonderful resource and, according to my own research and personal experience, a source of resilience for helping professionals, immigrants and refugees, interracial couples, and authors. I am taking this opportunity to express my gratitude to important members of my community who have lent a hand in supporting this book project from its infancy forward. First, I'd like to thank Anna M. Agathangelou, whose intense intellect pushed me to think about the data in new ways and to organize the book more explicitly around the theme of borders. Her tireless feedback improved the quality of the theorization significantly. "Thank you" to our sons, Mikael and Aleks, who are usually remarkably patient while waiting for Dad to put the finishing touches on some "urgent" matter at his computer in his office. Thanks also to Dr. David Baptiste, who provided substantive feedback on early papers that proceeded from the first data collections for this project and helped shape the clinical applications of the book.

Next, while I enjoy the writing process, most authors will tell you that a lot happens in the revision and editing processes. So, "thank you" to Jennifer Perillo, my editor at Columbia University Press, whose enthusiasm and energy shepherded my book to acceptance by the faculty editorial committee after a path that featured epic twists and turns. Thanks also to my mother,