
ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

TO THE abuse survivors we have known: Thank you for teaching us the meaning of resiliency and determination to survive. Although you share many common experiences, we hope this book helps us to better understand your unique circumstances and journeys to safety and community.

To our chapter contributors: Thank you for graciously sharing your passionate commitment and expertise for working with women from diverse communities who face violence and abuse. This book would not have been possible without your collaborative efforts.

To my parents, Berlin and Martha S. Lockhart, Sr., and my siblings (William Earl, Freddie Morris, Berlin, Jr., and Barbara Ann) for the perpetual love, support, and encouragement that you have shown me throughout my personal and professional adventures. Also, thanks to all my friends for their support.

For your encouragement, support, and unconditional love: My partner, Judith M. Turner, and my family: Suzanne Danis and Martin Podgainy, Elaine, Matthew and Andrew Cramer, and Bob, Mary Ann, and Sam Stillerman.
